Mitchell in a Fight for $5,000

"Young Mitchell," California's representative middle-weight pugilist, and

"Reddy" Gallagher, the Denverite, attracted more interest here than any similar event which has taken place in this city since the Corbett-Jackson contest, and the rooms of the new Occidental

Club were crowded at an early hour in the evening. The fight was for a $5,000 purse, of which $750 was to go to the loser. The betting was brisk, and from odds of $100 to $70 on Mitchell it veered to nearly even money before the fight began.

Mitchell's weight was announced as 154. His seconds were Jack Dempsey and Samuel Fitzpatrick. Gallagher weighed 158 and was seconded by Masterson and Jimmie Carroll. Peter Jackson was the referee.

Both men appeared in the pink of condition, Mitchell being somewhat fleshier than BERNE, Sept. 23 .- At to-day's session of the international congress called to consider the question of accidents to workmen and workwomen, the employers' liability in such cases, and the best means to be taken prevent accidents and better the condition of working people, Dr. Gould, of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, representing the United States Department of Labor, addressed the assemblage. During his remarks Dr. Gould said: "We are a practical people. If we see in the experiences of state insurance in other countries, especially in Germany, Switzerland and Austria, anything that is good, the United States will also adopt state insurances. I have been sent to officially represent the United States government, and I have followed the deliberations of the convention with the greatest of interest. I must admit that I was surprised at what has already been done in Europe in the way of state insurance." Professor Gould also said that it was satisfactory for the United States to be in the fortunate position of being able to wait and see the effect of the work already done before following with experiments in the direction of state in urance. The United States would thus be better able to realize what was best for the well-being of the people. At the same time, Professor Gould concluded, he could not help feeling that the work undertaken had been both great and beneficial.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

Property of Missionaries and Other Foreigners at Tehang Burned by Chinese Mobs. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23 .- The steamer Empress of China has arrived at Vancouver, B. C., with the news that J. B. Leonard, United States consul-general at Shanghai, telegraphed Admiral Belknap, on Sept. 3. as follows: "A Shangha! morning paper has a telegram, received last night, of a riot at Tehang on Sept. 2. The house of the missionary and foreign property were burned. No lives were lost." Admiral Belknap immediately sent the Alliance and the Palos to Tehang. Another riot occurred at Tehang on Sept. 3. All the foreign property at the port was burned, but no lives were lost. The foreign residents were under arms at the latest accounts.

LONDON, Sept. 23.-A dispatch to the Times, from Singapore, says: Shanghai advices to Sept. 12 prove that the Ichang riot was an organized outbreak on the part of the Hunon soldiers. The central government was powerless to queil the riot except by sending troops from a distance and risking civil war. As gun-boats cannot ascend the Ichang a merchant steamer will take the British marines. Placards issued students in Nanking accuse Christians of gross crimes. People at the treaty ports say that nothing but the landing of a wellarmed force of foreigners will quell the troubles.

The Kaiser Not Apxious for War. LONDON, Sept. 24.-The Standard's Vienna correspondent records a discussion carried on at was of the Archduke Albrecht. during the Austrian military neuvers, as to whether it was wise to allow a known enemy to complete preparations for war, or whether it was not preferable to force a conflict. "No names mentioned," says the correpondent, "but all understood that Russia was meant. Emperor William said emphatically, "I strongly believe that the enormous responsibility which modern warfare imposes must overbegin war, if conscious that by delaying it I could secure a single year, nay, a single month of peace, by trusting in the success of my good cause. Even if the chances are equal both sides there is much to be gained by having several months of peace.

The King of Saxony expressed himself to the same effect, pointing out in-stances where diplomacy had avert-ed an apparently inevitable conflict. Archduke Albrecht also dilated upon the enormous responsibility of forcing a war, in view of the murderous pelection of modern weapons. Mr. McCarthy Will Appeal for Funds.

DUBLIN, Sept. 23 .- A meeting of the National federation was held in this city today, at which Mr. Justin McCarthy presided. In addressing the members of the federation Mr. McCarthy said that the section of the Irish parliamentary party which he was the leader had virtually won a victory off that section which acknowledged Mr. Parnell as its head. In order that this advantage might be followed up and home rule for Ireland be made an established fact it was necessary that junds be raised to meet the expenses of the party. and Mr. McCarthy announced his intention to issue an appeal to both the people of Ireland and Irish-Americans to subscribe to such a fund. Mr. McCarthy said that the party had decided to devote what remained of the Paris fund exclusively to the use of the evicted tenants, with whose cause the party absolutely identifies itself.

BERLIN, Sept. 23.-There is much discussion going on in Catholic and Protestant circles in this and other cities on account of the fact just made public that Prof. Winschied, of Leipsic, who belongs to one of the most noted Catholic families of that city, has announced his conversion Protestantiem. This in itself would have created a sensation in religious circles, but its effect upon Catholics may be imagined when it is coupled with the statement that the Professer attributes the change in his religious views to his disbelief in the authenticity of the garment known as the hely coat, which is now on exhibition in the cathedral at Treves, and his conscientions scruples against supporting a church that would lend its sanction to such an exhibition.

The same counsel also asked the Justice to forbid the Bank of the River Plate from parting with certain documents referring to this bullion. The counsel for the Bank of River Plate sbjected to this demand, claiming that the financial institution referred to had already parted with $125,000 on account of this bullion, and that it had accepted other bills drawn against it. Hon. Carroll D. Wright Points Out the Remedy for Some of Our Lax Laws.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 23.-The devotional exercises of the Unitarian conference were conducted, this morning, by the Rev. Mary A. Safford, of Sionx City, Ia., after which the subject of church extension was discussed by the Rev. D. W. Morehouse, secretary of the Middle States and Canada Conference; the Rev. Dr. Horance Stebbins. of San Francisco, for the Pacific coast, and the Rev. J. L. Chaney for the South. Hon. Carroll D. Wright, of Washinton, read a valuable and interesting paper on the topic of marriage and divorce. Speaking of the act of Congress providing for the collection of statistics relating to marriage and divorce, he said the investigation thus ordered and made was the first collection of such facts in sociology ever made by a government. An examination of the laws of the several States and Territories shows that marriage is generally encouraged by law, and several States provide for the legitimizing of natural children by the subsequent marriage of the parents, and under the Constitution of the United States marriage legally contracted in one State is legal in every State. He traced a large amount of domestic infelicity, from which arise divorces, laxity of the marriage laws. Mr. Wright concludes that he believes it possible to properly restrict divorce, and while thus restricting it he would make marriage more difficult by making the guilty party to indiscreet and too hasty unions amenable to criminal law. Then the law should be changed so that the State should be a party, and no ex parte divorce decree should be granted, for that would punish the innocent and leave the guilty in the enjoyment of illicit upion. He concluded: "I do not believe that divorce is a menace to the sacredness and purity of the family, but I do believe it is a menace to the infernal brutality of human nature which at times makes a hell of the boliest human relations, and if society would perpetuate the beautiful embodiment of Lamartines trinity—the father, the mother and the child—which of itself completes and perpetuates the race, it must also take the disgusting medicine established by divorce."

It will be remembered that King sued out a writ of habeas corpus before the United States Court, and on a hearing of the cause was represented by the Hon, Don Dickinson. Judge Hammond beld that King was not, as alleged, convicted and held without due process of law, and hence the federal court could not interfere. This morning King, his counsel and bondsmen appeared before Judge Hammond and bled an application for the appeal, and also for a suspension of sentence until the appeal should be heard. FOUND AFTER SEVEN YEARS

Mrs. Smith, of Yorktown, the Long-Lost Runaway Wife of a Minnesota Farmer.

Wrote a Letter to Her Son and the Man Who Had a Better Claim on Her than Smith Came After Her-Strange Story of an Elopement.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. YORKTOWN, Ind., Sept. 23.—The orthodox residents of this little town have been treated to a social sensation that will furnish gossip for some time to come. It is of the sort usually seized upon for the plot of a French novel of the Frenchiest sort, containing plenty of love and passion, with enough of the metaphysical thrown in to delight those who find pleasure in the queer things of life. It shows that the lives of some people, at least, undergo a change every seven years. It is just seven years since Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, as such they were supposed to be, came to Yorktown to reside. It was given out that their previous home had been Minnesota, but beyond that nothing further was learned of their history. While not wealthy, they had resources sufficient to allow them to make a respectable and wellto-do appearance. Two years later a little daughter came into the family. After a time Mr. Smith engaged in farming for David Campbell, a well-known agriculturist near Yorktown. The husband was a sober, industrious man, and the wife's position in Yorktown society was wellestablished until recently, when whispered suspicions developed into open accusations, and the Smith family, with their little girl. now five years old, removed to Anderson. They were absent only a short time, however, and last week returned to this place. In all these years they received no visits from any friends or relatives back in their old home. Yesterday a stranger arrived. and inquired at the hotel whether William Smith was living here. He produced photographs of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, which were at once recognized. It then appeared that Mr. Smith's real name was William Britten, had been searching in vain for seven years for her whereabouts. Both he and his four children had long since supposed the wife and mother must be dead, so well had she covered all trace of her flight, until a week ago her motherly yearning for the old home and loved ones had induced her to write a letter to one of her boys, now a young man. Mr. Smith, or William Britten, it then appeared had deserted a wife and five small children, leaving them to charity. A few days after he had left a pair of twins were born, but they soon died. The stranger was conducted to the "Smith" abode after telling his story, and Mrs. Smith, or rather Mrs. Martin, opened the door. Instantly she recognized the man, and, with a cry. threw up her hands and was about to faint away when he stepped across the threshold and caught her in his arms. At the hotel he had given ont that he was an officer and an old friend of Mrs. Martin, but the meeting at the door disclosed the fact that a stronger tie exa chair and then heard her confession, broken as it was with sobs and tears. When she had finished be asked if she were willing to return to her children. After much persuasion and more weeping the woman consented. When Britten made his appearance the stranger coldly announced that the false husband was not wanted. The innocent five-year-old girl at this point came running in to her parents. The stranger looked from her to the mother questioningly, and again the latter wept. Until late last night the stranger and Mrs. Martin remained at the "Smith" house. This morning the house was found to be closed up and the couple gone. The little child, worse than an orphan in this world, was left with a neighbor to care for, while Britten, alias Smith, is preparing to depart no one knows where.

FOREST AND PRAIRIE FIRES.

Raging Flames Devastating Portions

Minnesota and North Dakota, St. Paul, Sept. 23 .- Heavy timber fires are raging on the Red Lake reservation and near Milaca and Esterbrooks. The country is sparsely settled and the farmers are completely at the mercy of the flames. Matters have been made worse by a cyclonic storm near Alexandria. Northwest roads. Farmers through North Dakota to the town gigantic trees were broken like twigs and hurled into the lake and have suspended threshing operations, and all are busy forming fire breaks to protect their property. In some instances farmers have been careless, and in trying to protect their own property have started fires which have done great damage to others. Most of the fires so far started have been from this cause. The railroads are also taking every precaution to prevent the spreading of fires. Furrows are plowed along the borders of the right of way, and between these furrows and the track the grass is all turned. This serves the double purpose of protecting the bridges and cul-

ing of fires by sparks from the engine. Terrific fires are now raging in northwestern Minnesota, over $15,000 worth of timber land having been destroyed. The loss to farmers will be high. Several homes and farm buildings have been burned and the owners obliged to leave the devastated district. Two school-houses were destroyed yesterday, the pupils barely escaping with their lives. The teachers bravely mustered their little bands to places of safety. The loss will amount to $700 an hour at the rate the flames are now raging, and it is useless to attempt to extinguish them. The fire is approaching Pine City and five hundred men are fighting it. Finlayson is reported destroyed, and all the women and children of that place were sent to Hinckley yesterday afternoon for protection. Sandstone is in imminent danger.

Loss of $9,000 at Cannelton.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CANNELTON, Ind., Sept. 28.-A fire on Monday night destroyed a quarter of a block on Washington street, in this city. The loss will amount to nearly $9,000: partly insured. The loss was sustained as follows: Mrs. Mary Dursch, $6,000; insurance, $1,700, in the Phonix of Hartford, Mrs. Margaret Haering, $1,900, on building; insurance, $-00, in the German Mutual of Indiana. > GUTHRIE, Ok. T., Sept. 23 .- The bloodshed that was looked for in connection with the opening of the lands to settlement yesterday did not come. Near Langston a couple of cow-boys told a negro that he had better move on, as they had killed a couple of negroes already. The frightened colored man, fresh from Texas, spread the story, and as it went down the line it was that two men had been killed. A dozen other stories of the same nature occupied the tongues of everybody. Only a few tenderfeet believed them. The rush was not accompanied by a single killing. The negro colonists were not very successful in the rush. A few of them got good claims, but in the majority of cases a white man will contest the claim. Three or four negroes settled on a single claim and will prove up forty acres each, but the white men all want 160. There was some trouble at the lowa village over a valuable claim known as the Pecan grove. An old negro ran his team nine miles in fortyeight minutes and arrived ahead of a man who attempted to drive him off. The negro showed fight and downed the man with a hatchet. The man received a very severe wound on the head, but will recover. A number of lowa Indians came here this morning. They made a great deal of money yesterday by showing boomers desirable locations. One lowa boy thirteen years old made $95 in this way. The Indians covered the ground pretty thoroughly, and say they saw no disturbance of any kind. Last night was beautiful. Nature was kind to the thousands lying out of doors, but it was not "sweet sleep and quiet dreams" for many of them. Water was Mitchell's chin, but lacked a shade of scarce and many had neglected to carry knockout effect. Mitchell also scored two even a drink. The great nuisance, howlands they were burning brightly, filling the air with smoke of a peculiar odor. Some of the fires were started to drive men off claims, while others were started by men hunting for section stones. The stones were hard to find. Major Weigel, the special agent of the Interior department, says that many of the stones have been dug up by the indians. The country was surveyed seventeen years ago against the wishes of the Indians, and the noble red man followed the surveyors about and carefully removed the stones the white man put in the ground.

A courier from Tecumseh, the town site of the lower county-seat, states that the site was proclaimed open to settlement at noon to-day by Governor Steele. Two thousand people rushed in and claimed lots. There had been no disturbance when the courier left. Governor Steele immediately proceeded to Chandler, the countyseat of the upper county, and arrived there this evening. The town site will be opened to-morrow. Troops are guarding the site to prevent intrusion.

The excitement here is subsiding. In front of the land office, to-day, there was a large crowd waiting to file on claims. Fully five hundred people were in line when the office was opened this morning. When the doors were opened the clowd made a rush, and for a while it looked as if there would be a riot. Several men were shoved off the small porch leading to the door, and instantly many revolvers flashed in the air. The police, however, took a hand in the affair, and prevented further disturbance. This evening Mayor Spangler stationed an officer at the issued numbered tickets to those who desired to file. In the morning the numbers of these tickets will be called out and in this way further camping out all night in front of the office will be avoided On the train which came in here last night about 350 more people arrived. The conductor said that all the roads leading to this city were filled with wagons, horsemen and pedestrians headed this way. The first person to arrive yesterday who started at noon from the border was Elmer Mc-Guire, who rode through on a tricycle, making the run in three hours.

Why He Is a Protectionist,

James M. Swank, General Manager of the Ameri-I am a protectionist because I am an American. The free admission of foreign commodities, or their admission at rates of duty which are levied for purely revenue purposes, may suit the economic conditions meet the financial needs of other countries; but history teaches that the prosperity of our own country is best promoted by a tariff which is levied for protection as well as for revenue. Many of our great industries, including the silk industry, the pottery in-dustry, the carpet industry and the steelrail industry, had only a nominal existence until adequately protective duties were imposed on competing foreign products. All other considerations aside, older manufacturing countries could command lower wages for labor than this country, and protective duties were therefore a decision in the case of William A. Jewett | duction. Our tin-plate industry is to-day an against Robert Garrett, of the Baltimore & | infant industry because we have not had a Ohio Railroad Company, Tuesday. Three protective duty on foreign tin plates. We shall always need protective duties as long The decision refuses to set aside the sum-mons served upon Mr. Garrett and the suit will continue.

as our people insist upon a higher standard of wages and scale of living than prevail abroad. If they were now willing to accept the same wages and the same social conditions which the people of other countries are compelled to accept, our protective policy could be greatly modified, if not wholly dispensed with. Whatever it may have been in the past, this policy is, therefore, to-day chiefly a question of wages.

A Waterloo Veteran.

Edmund Yates, in New York Tribune. It has now been ascertained beyond the possibility of a doubt that the only sursuicide. The couple had been lovers in Hungary and had been engaged to be marvivor amongst the British officers who served at Waterloo is Lieutenant-Colonel William Hewett, of the Rifle Brigade, who was born July 2, 1755. Colonel Hewett was already a captain in June, 1815, and the late Lord Albemarle served under him as a subaltern. He also took part in James Saumarez's Baltic expedition, and was with British army which suffered so severely in the retreat through the Netherlands across the frozen Scheldt. Up till very lately Colonel Hewett's memory was perfect, and he entertained a vivid recollection of the momentous events in which he took part, but during the last month his strength has suddenly given way. He retired very young from active service, and for some time past has resided in Southampton, where his declining years have been affectionately, watched by his devoted daughter. Hon, Hervey Watterson Dying.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 23 .- The Hon. Hervey Watterson, the venerable father of the editor of the Courier-Journal, is lying at the point of death at the residence of his son in this city. He is the sole survivor of Twenty-sixth Congress, having the vonngest member of that body and during the years of his active life was a distinguished figure in national politics. His knowledgeof public men and affairs was prodigious, and to the date of his present illness be retained extraordinary vitality of mind and body. With him will pass away the last of the close personal friends of General Jackson, who stroyed by fire. Loss, $72,000; insurance stern, and the pilot-house had all its was his god-father. During the days of very light. The two concerns will rebuild | windows lowered. The distance from here sectional conflict he was a strong advocate of the Union.

The Courts Are Useful.

Muncie Times. Will the Indianapolis Sentinel "-- the cowardly souls" of the Democratic judges who had the honesty to decide that it is not legal for a Democrat to run his hand into the public treasury and rake out money in violation of the terms of the city charter? It is a good thing for the people of Indianapolis that they have a court to construe the charter and that a Democratic conneil's construction of that instrument is not final.

HOW'S THIS, MR BOK. A Chicago Intellect That Yearns for a Restful

"Begonia, this brain work is killing me!" The young husband, dragging his weary feet after him, threw himself on the lounge and emitted a groan that jarred the windows. "Is there no prospect of relief, Walde-mar?" inquired the devoted young wife, leaning over him tenderly. "None that that I know of. I have tried to-your bangs are tickling my ear, lovehave tried to avoid concentrating my mind too deeply on my work, but the struggle is in vain. Take off my shoes dear, and bring my slippers. Thank you.' "But what is there in merely adding up accounts and selling a necktie occasionally, Waldemar, that should strain your mind so severely?" asked the anxious wife. A cry of mingled surprise and pain burst from the lips of Waldeman Dejackson. "Adding up accounts! Selling neckties!" he exclaimed bitterly. "Is it possible, Be gonia, that I have not told you of the work am doing at the store?" "You have not." "And you have no idea of its exhausting nature-of the intellectual strain it im-

"None, Waldemar." "Begonia," said the husband huskily, every day of my life I have to-calm yourself, dear-every day I have to arrange the show window! The violence of his grief had spent itself and Waldemar Dejackson had become once more comparatively calm. Tenderly his devoted wife had soothed the agitated man, and now, her own voice trembling under the excitement of a sudden inspiration, she

"Waldemar, if you could get a job that has no brainwork about it, you would be happy again, would you not? 'Yes! O yes!" he moaned.

"Then here is the very thing you want!" With eager tingers she picked up a paper she had been reading, and pointed to this advertisement: "Wanted-A good man to edit a first-class ladies' magazine.'

That's What He Wants.

Cleveland Leader. The candidate for Representative on the people's party ticket in Portage county is wealthy, and he made most of his money by farming. Besides owning a large tract of land, he does a big business in loaning money. Yet he enthusiastically advocates the sub-treasury scheme, and thinks the government should lend him money at 2 per cent. He could turn it so as to get 8 per cent., you know.

A Defect in the Charter.

Terre Haute Express. The Sullivan organs at Indianapolis are much chagrined because there is no law nuder which the parties who brought suit by which the Sullivan officials were forced to refund the salary grab can be sent to the penitentiary.
